

Good morning,

PennEast Pipeline Company has developed an interactive mapping tool to assist landowners, neighbors and community leaders on the proposed route of the PennEast Pipeline. The map, which is available on our website at www.penneastpipeline.com, allows users to type their address into the search box to determine the general proximity of the proposed pipeline route to their property.

Currently, the map shows the 400-foot survey corridor. The preferred route and permanent right-of-way will be selected following field surveys and data gathering within the survey corridor, as well as through consultation with property owners and regulatory agencies.

The proposed pipeline route information is accurate as of October 31, 2014. Because the route is still under development, PennEast will update the map regularly. (Street map information is provided by Google.)
